Praiano and Vettica Maggiore (the hamlet) are ancient villages like all the others on the Coast, and are situated halfway between Positano and Amalfi. Praiano, "Antica Plagianum", faces east giving you the opportunity to enjoy the sunset and the moon rising, whilst Vettica Maggiore faces west and from there you can admire wonderful sunsets behind the "Faraglioni" of Capri. Praiano has always been a fishing village and until a few years ago fishing was the main profession. The old village was situated by the sea, but due to the Saracen's invasions, pestilences, and other natural calamities, they were obliged to move higher up in the
